RUNNER'S GUIDE:

Containing a List of all the Streets, Lanes, Alleys, Courts, Places, Parks, Avenues, &c., now in use.

With their commencement, progress, and end. For example: Commerce-street, No. 1, is cor. Broad-st., No. 43 is cor. Mulberry, 148 is cor. Market, 175 cor. South-Market. And Spring st. No. 1 begins at Clay-st., and 58 is cor. Cross-st., 82 cor. Division, 100 cor. Orange, &c. And if a Court, I say for example, Ball's Court is 19 Fair street, Halsey's Court is 12 South Bridge-st., and Halsey Alley 50 Plane-st. So that the inquirer may know in what direction to go to find the place sought. The figures at the left hand denote the commencement of the street.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

WE, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty, to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

Section 1.—1. All legislative powers herein granted, shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2.—1. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year, by the people of the several states; and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature. 2. No person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen. 3. Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians, not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one Representative; and, until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three; Massachusetts eight; Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one; Connecticut five; New York six; New Jersey four; Pennsylvania eight; Delaware one; Maryland six; Virginia ten; North Carolina five; South Carolina five; and Georgia three. 4. When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill up such vacancies. 5. The House of Representatives shall choose their Speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Section 3.—1. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. 2. Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided, as equally as may be, into three classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the Legislature of any state, the Executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies. 3. No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen. 4. The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided. 5. The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States. 6. The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present. 7. Judgment, in cases of impeachment, shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit, under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

Section 4.—1. The times, places, and manner of holding election for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may, at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators. 2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Section 5.—1. Each House shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members; and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each House may provide. 2. Each House may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member. 3. Each House shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either House, on any question, shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal. 4. Neither House, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Section 6.—1. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective Houses, and in going to or returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either House they shall not be questioned in any other place. 2. No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either House during his continuance in office.

Section 7.—1. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills. 2. Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that House shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other House, by which it shall be likewise reconsidered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that House, it shall become a law. But in all such cases, the votes of both Houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each House respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return; in which case it shall not be a law.

3. Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary, (except on a question of adjournment,) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Section 8.—The Congress shall have power—1. To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises; to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises, shall be uniform throughout the United States: 2. To borrow money on the credit of the United States: 3. To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes: 4. To establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States: 5. To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coins, and fix the standard of weights and measures: 6. To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States: 7. To establish post offices and post roads: 8. To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing, for limited times, to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries: 9. To constitute tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court; to define, and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offences against the law of nations: 10. To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water: 11. To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years: 12. To provide and maintain a navy: 13. To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces: 14. To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions: 15. To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress: 16. To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of Government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased, by the consent of the Legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings: and, 17. To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

Section 9.—1. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person. 2. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it. 3. No bill of attainder, or ex post facto law, shall be passed. 4. No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken: 5. No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state. No preference shall be given, by any regulation of commerce or revenue, to the ports of any one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another. 6. No money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time. 7. No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States, and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

Section 10.—1. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts; or grant any title of nobility. 2. No state shall, without the consent of the Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing the inspection laws; and the nett produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the Treasury of the United States, and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress. No state shall, without the consent of the Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

Section 1.—1. The Executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows: 2. Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of Electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector. [3. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the Government of the United States, directed to to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for President; and if no person have a majority, then, from the five highest on the list, the said House shall, in like manner, choose the President. But in choosing the President, the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the President, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the Vice President.¹* 4. The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States. 5. No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of President: neither shall any person be eligible to that office, who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States. 6. In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may, by law, provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what officer shall then act as President; and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected. 7. The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them. 8. Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation: 9. "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Section 2.—1. The President shall be Commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offences against the United States, except in cases of impeachment. 2. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they may think proper in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments. 3. The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Section 3.—1. He shall, from time to time, give to Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and, in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time and place as he may think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Section 4.—1. The President, Vice President, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

Section 1.—1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may, from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Supreme and Inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior; and shall at stated times receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Section 2 —1. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another state; between citizens of different states; between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states ; and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens, or subjects. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations, as the Congress shall make. 3. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crime shall have been committed ; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

Section 3.—1. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court. 2. The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason ; but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

Section 1.—1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

Section 2.—1. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states. 2. A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime. 3. No person held to service or labor in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor ; but shall be delivered up on a claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

Section 3.—1. New states may be admitted by the Congress into this Union ; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the Legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the Congress. 2. The Congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state.

Section 4.—1. The United States shall guaranty to every state in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the legislature, or of the Executive, (when the legislature cannot be convened,) against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

1. The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution; or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress; provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

1. All debts contracted, and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States, under this Constitution, as under the confederation. 2. This Constitution, and the laws of the United States, which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, any thing in the Constitution or Laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding. 3. The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the Members of the several State Legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

1. The 'ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Done in convention, by the unanimous consent of the states present, the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth. In witness whereof, we have hereunto subscribed our names.

Attest : WILLIAM JACKSON, Secretary.

[Congress, at their first session under the Constitution, held in the city of New York, in 1789, proposed to the Legislatures of the several states twelve amendments, ten of which only were adopted. They are the first ten of the following amendments; and they were ratified by three-fourths, the constitutional number of states, on the 15th of December, 1791. The 11th amendment was proposed at the first session of the Third Congress, and was declared in a message from the President of the United States to both Houses of Congress, dated the 8th of January, 1798, to have been adopted by the constitutional number of states. The 12th amendment, which was proposed at the first session of the Eighth Congress, was adopted by the constitutional number of states, in the year 1804, according to a public notice by the Secretary of State, dated the 25th of September, 1804.]

AMENDMENTS

To the Constitution of the United States, ratified according to the provisions of the fifth article of the foregoing Constitution.

ART. 1. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

ART. 2. A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ART. 3. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ART. 4. The right of the people to be secured in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ART. 5. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

ART. 6. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defence.

ART. 7. In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ART. 8. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ART. 9. The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ART. 10. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

ART. 11. The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by the citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

ART. 12. § 1. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for President and Vice President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice President; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice President, and of the number of votes for each; which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted: the person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But, in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majorurity of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President, whenever the choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President.

2. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President, shall be the Vice President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then, from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

3. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President, shall be eligible to that of Vice President of the United States.

ADOPTION OF THE FEDERAL CONSTITUTION BY THE SEVERAL STATES.

The Delegates for forming the Constitution assembled in Philadelphia on the second Monday in May, 1787. GEORGE WASHINGTON was appointed President of the Convention. After debating the several articles of the Constitution for about four months, it was adopted and signed by all the members then present, on the 17th of September. The Constitution was then to be sent out for the approval of each state. A provision was made by the Convention, that the ratification of nine states should be sufficient for the establishment of the new system. It was warmly debated in the State Conventions, but was at length adopted by them all; in some cases with the recommendation of amendments, and in others without amendments. The following table shows the dates of the adoption in each state :

Delaware,	December 7, 1787.	Without amendments.

NEW YORK YEARLY BILL OF MORTALITY.

According to the Annual Report of the New York City Inspector, there were in that city last year 8531 deaths—white males, 4269; white females, 3749; black, 513. The total exceeds the number of deaths the preceding year 520. The deaths by consumption were 1470, an increase of 174 over 1840. 135 were carried off by apoplexy; 123 by congestion of the brain; 385 by dropsy of the brain; 130 by diarrhœa; 151 by dropsy; 202 by erysipelas; 266 by scarlet fever; 144 by typhus fever; 605 by inflammation of the lungs; 113 by measles; 140 by old age; 209 by small pox; 55 by accident; 43 burned and scalded; 105 by drowning; 5 killed; 1 hanged; 10 by poison; 34 by suicide; 49 by suffocation; 4 by drinking cold water; and 12 by exposure.

The following Table compiled by a New Orleans correspondent of the New York Commercial, shows the dreadful ravages of the Yellow Fever in New Orleans since its first appearance this season on the 1st of August.

Buried at Lafayette, from New Orleans, estimated	450	350

Showing an average weekly majority of 211, of which 135 were of Yellow Fever. The writer adds:

On comparing our summer population (80,000) with that of your city, (320,000,) it will readily be perceived how very unhealthy the past season has been. The average number of deaths in New York is about 200 per week, while in this city, with a population one-fourth of yours, the above figures have succeeded for 13 weeks in succession.

SELECT CLASSICAL ENGLISH SCHOOL, Elizabethtown, N. J.

The above institution is essentially a school, where a small and limited number of boys are received into the family of the Principal, and are under his constant supervision. Every attention is given, not only to the training of the mind in the acquisition of useful knowledge, but also to the formation of a correct moral character. In the Government of the school, moral motives are brought to bear upon the conduct of each: and no student is retained when it is found by experience that, by his private conduct or general deportment, he is exerting a deleterious influence over his fellow students. The school is located in a retired and healthy spot in Elizabethtown, and has been in operation for several years past. Any person desirous to place their sons in such an institution, can, on application, be referred to a number of gentlemen in Elizabethtown and other places, who have for some time past been its patrons.

TERMS.—For Board, Washing, and Tuition, either in the English or Classical branches, $165 a year, payable in all cases quarterly in advance. Each student to furnish his own bed and bedding, or charge will be made for their use.

NEWARK CITY DIRECTORY,

FOR THE
67th YEAR OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE,
FROM 4th OF JULY, 1842.

Important observations to those using this Work.

Throughout this Directory, the christian names of those where there are more than one of the same surname, are carefully alphabetically arranged, male and female, firms, &c. In searching for a name, the inquirer must know the proper spelling. For example, a person seeking for——Pirsson, will not find the one sought for if he looks in the names of Pierson; so, also, for——Bonnell, he should not look among the Bunnells; and for Conger not in Congar; and for Parcels not look in Parsals or Parcells; nor for Hays in Hayes.

REFRESHMENTS.

B. SHERWOOD'S
TEMPERANCE
House of Refreshment,
No. 50 John Street,
NEW YORK.

The sin of drunkenness expels reason, drowns memory, diminishes strength, distempers the body, defaces beauty, corrupts the blood, inflames the liver, weakens the brain, turns men into walking hospitals, causes internal, external, and incurable wounds, is a witch to the senses, a devil to the soul, a thief to the pocket, the beggar's companion, a wife's woe and children's sorrow; makes a man become a beast and self-murderer, who drinks to others' good health, and robs himself of his own! The root of most evil is DRUNKENNESS!!!

The public are respectfully informed that the REFECTORY, No. 50 JOHN STREET, (2nd door East of the Methodist Church), New York, is conducted on the TOTAL ABSTINENCE PLAN. It is one of the cleanest, pleasantest, and most comfortable houses of the kind in the city, and is supplied with the best the markets can afford.

The cooking is under the care of the family of the proprietor. The friends of TEMPERANCE, CLEANLINESS, and GOOD ORDER, are invited to call and satisfy themselves

JOSEPH N. TUTTLE, Clerk, C. Council.

THE NEW AND SPLENDID STEAMER. P A S S A I C ,

CAPTAIN, JOHN GAFFY,

Having been thoroughly repaired and handsomely fitted up for the season, commenced running between Newark and New York, on the 9th of March, making two trips from each place a day, and leaves as follows :

Centre Wharf, Newark,	Foot Barclay-st. N. York,
7½ o'clock, A. M.	10 o'clock, A. M.
1½ " M.	4 " P. M.

On Sundays the Passaic will run, and leave

Centre Wharf, Newark,	Foot Barclay-st. N. York,
7½ o'clock, A. M.	10 o'clock, A. M.
12 " P. M.	6 " P. M.

The Passaic will land at Bergen Point on her 7½ o'clock trip down, and on her 4 o'clock trip up.

F A R E :

To New-York,12½

To Bergen Point,12½

The Passaic is remarkable for speed, performing the distance from an hour and a half to an hour and three quarters each trip.

Ladies will find this route very pleasant and particularly advantageous, as the inconvenience of changing from car to ferry boat with baggage is avoided.

☞ Goods and freight taken on reasonable terms, but only at the risk of the owner.

MORRIS AND ESSEX RAILROAD

This road was chartered January 29th, 1835, and the Company commenced running their Cars by horse power from Newark to Orange, November 19th, 1836; from Newark to Madison by steam power on Monday the second of October, 1837; and from Newark to Morristown, on the first day of January, 1838; March 1st, 1842, an act was passed by the Legislature for the relief of this road, and on Monday 18th April, 1842, the road was sold—and the Purchasers intend to run the cars once a day, and lay the Iron Rails down as fast as possible, till it shall be completed, which will not only make it a safe, but rapid line of travel, and profitable to the stockholders.

This being my Eighth Edition of "THE NEWARK CITY DIRECTORY," it would not be uninteresting to take a retrospective view of the last seven years of my public labors.

I commenced this work, (as I said at the beginning), reluctantly. Prompted with the belief, that at some future day, (should I live,) I would make something handsome of it, I pushed forward with the arduous task with all my powers, determined to make or break. In 1835-36 I published 600 copies; 1836-37, 630; 1837-38, 1,200; 1838-39, 500; 1839-40, 600; 1840-41, 600; 1841-42, 600; 1842-43, 600. Of my third edition I had 600 copies over, of my sixth edition, 75 over, and it has been with great difficulty that I have kept it alive thus far. This year I had anticipated a liberal subscription, to make up, (in part) the deficit on the preceding four years. But, alas! just when I was getting my subscribers, there was so much tom-foolery and murderous transactions going on among the members of Congress at Washington, (for which they have been subsequently righteously rebuked, and taught that they could die in a more honorable way than by resorting to the Bowie knife and Pistol.) that my number was curtailed even below either of the preceding four years, my subscribers saying that they did not know what to do; the exchanges were at such ruinous rates; rents advancing from one-eighth to one-quarter per cent, and Congress doing nothing to relieve the country.

¶ The "National Intelligencer" of February 28, remarks thus:

"*The Twelfth Week of the Session has passed away without leaving behind it any trace upon the statute-book, although a good deal of business has been done in both houses, and much more would undoubtedly have been done but for that dispensation of Providence by which another member of Congress has been cut off in the prime of his valuable life, and in the midst of his public usefulness. The time given to decent mourning of this sad event curtailed the week of one-half of its term, much of the residue of it having been occupied in business of a preparatory or initiatory character. The number and variety of the Resolutions presented in the House of Representatives on the single day of this week allotted to that purpose, afford remarkable proof of how much business there is for Congress to do, and how much more for it to inquire into, if there was time enough for it. But were Congress to sit every day, (Sundays excepted,) from this day to the 4th of March, 1843, there would be little hope of their acting upon half of the subjects already submitted to their consideration, which every day may, however, be expected to multiply, either in the form of bills, resolutions, or reports.

"As yet the reader will have observed, or at least ought to be aware, that in the House of Representatives (in which body, under the Constitution, all bills for raising a revenue must originate) no further advance has been made towards the indispensable measure of the Session—the providing a permanent Revenue adequate to the wants of the Government—than the reference of the question to two of its committees. This apparent tardiness is no matter for much surprise, when the perplexity and minuteness of the details connected with a proper investigation of this subject are considered. We mention it here only to show, that, although nearly three months of the Session have elapsed, the really important business of the nation has hardly yet been approached. A long and arduous discussion may be looked for, of course, upon the Tariff bill, whenever it does come before the House of Representatives, and in the Senate, after it shall have passed the House, every State, and every district in every State, having its particular interests, which it will become the duty of its Representatives to guard and protect. We apprehend, that we are still in point of time, as well as in point of fact, no further advanced than the threshold of the Session.

The Bill for the apportionment of the Representatives in Congress under the new Census has received the go-by for the present, and perhaps for months to come. The State Legislatures have either all risen, or are on the eve of rising, and so much time having been suffered to elapse without acting on it, there is no longer any object in precipitating a decision upon the measure. We shall in all probability not hear of it again before midsummer."

In the Senate, the more remarkable incident of the last week is the report of the Currency Committee, upon we have already had occasion to speak to our readers, and upon the merits of which we shall not here say any thing. Some of our Whig friends do not approve the view which we have taken of the subject. We are sorry for it. But even those who are least satisfied with the project of that committee, agree, we believe, with us that immediate action on the part of Congress, in favor of a discriminating Tariff for Revenue and a Bank, or some other Fiscal Agent, is demanded, "above all things," at the hands of Congress by the public voice. To that effect is the language of Mr. J. P. Kennedy, in his report made within the last week, in which he expresses this sentiment in the emphatic terms which we have borrowed from him.

"Within the present week, it is probable this whole subject will be opened up in the discussion of Mr. Clay's Resolutions, now lying on the table. In that discussion, should it take place, the leading speech of Mr. Clay will be heard and read with interest, all the deeper from the prevalence of a rumor which seems to be generally believed, that that eminent statesman will, within a few weeks, retire from his station in the Senate, of which he has so long been one of the most distinguished and honored members."

Under these circumstances, I thought it would be im-

prudent to publish more than 600 copies, and shall expect the citizens will not hesitate to purchase and pay for so small an edition promptly, and give me as little trouble as possible.

There has of late been so much said about constitutional scruples, &c., that I have incurred the expense of publishing the Constitution of the United States, the Census for the United States, and some other useful statistics, which (I doubt not) will be found handy and useful for reference.

When the Directory went to press, the following houses and stores on Broad street were empty, viz: No. 51, house; 94½, house and store; 109, store; 115, house; 147, store; 149, store; 161, house; 180 house and store; 182 house and store; 270, office; 284, store; 309 store; 311, store; 329, store; 334, house and store; 376 house and store; 426, house; 476, store; 478, house; 615, house; 648, house; 698, store; and about 20 empty in other parts of the city.

The Common Council have changed the name of Harris and Union streets to Union street. I have re-numbered it, and run the risk of getting paid for it. Many fine buildings have been erected during the past year, many strangers are moving in the city, and many are leaving in search of employment.

There were last year 4,680 names; this year, there are 4,700 names, some 20 more than last year.

I had hoped to have had my Directory out sooner than any preceding year, but circumstances beyond our control have delayed it one week.

My Editorial labors are now closed for the eighth year, all of which time has been devoted (exclusively) to the amelioration of this beautiful and once flourishing city, and I will now conclude by thanking the citizens for their very liberal patronage through the years of peril that have "tried men's souls," and hope they will not forsake me at this late hour. MY FRIENDS, COME TO THE RESCUE!!!

B. T. PIERSON.
